

Lisa Weidman

Biography

Gifted singer, songwriter, and speaker, Lisa Weidman is touching the hearts of audiences through her solo ministry. A native of Lititz, Pennsylvania, Lisa is using her God-given talent to win souls for Christ and encourage believers in their walk with the Lord.

“As a child of a Christian home, I was given the firm foundation of knowing Christ which carried me through some tough trials only to strengthen my relationship with the Lord.”

Lisa’s voice has been captivating audiences since her early childhood. Her years at Westminster Choir College exposed her to many styles of music, but after rededicating her life to Christ, Southern Gospel music became Lisa’s favorite.

“There is nothing I enjoy more than singing Christian music. It’s how I serve the Lord and worship Him. I am drawn deeper into His presence with every lyric and His Gospel resonates through every note,” says Lisa.

Through heart-warming testimony, Lisa uses her personal experience to bring hope to those who have experienced domestic violence and abuse. She has a unique style of sharing her testimony through touching stories, contagious laughter and song. “Rescue Me”, an original song inspired by Lisa’s testimony, offers comfort and hope to those who feel burdened and overwhelmed.

Throughout her ministry, Lisa has had the privilege to sing along side of talented groups such as Dixie Melody Boys, Mended Wings, and Higher Ground. In addition Lisa was honored to work with the award winning Roger Talley, of the Talley Trio, on her solo project entitled “Grateful”. This exciting project includes two original songs, “Rescue Me” and “Grateful”, which are rapidly becoming some of her listeners top Southern Gospel favorites. Both songs are a reflection of the work the Lord has done in her life.

Her ministry is an effort to touch others and bring revival and rededication. Whether you listen or sing along, the sweet bold voice of Lisa Weidman echoes with the praise and glory of Jesus Christ.
